Washington

Core Services: Washington has focused CBCAP funding to building and supporting capacity in several communities around the state focused on Perinatal Mood and Anxiety Disorder (PMADS) and Group-Based Parent Education. Communities funded to develop capacity to families experiencing PMAD are building community coalitions, participating in specialized training, and implementing support groups. Communities funded for Group-Based Parent Education are engaging families through programs focusing on building protective factors in families, primarily with young children. The Group-Based Parent Education community capacity-building programs that were funded include the following models: Disciplina Positiva/Positive Discipline, Trust Based Relational Intervention, Fatherhood is Sacred, Conscious Fathering, Positive Indian Parenting, Circle of Security, Love and Logic's Early Childhood Parenting Made Fun, and Incredible Years. Additionally, Washington utilized CBCAP funding to support Parent Participation in statewide leadership and advisory committees and engaging state systems partners to integrate the Protective Factors and Strengthening Families in policy and programmatic activities.
